POPULATION OF WASHINGTON COUNTY GOVERNMENTS

The following table provides the historical population for each of the municipalities within Washington County based on data collected by the U.S. Census Bureau. Each municipality has been ranked based on the percent change from the 1990 to 2000 Census. For example, the Village of Jackson experienced a population increase of 2,452 individuals from 1990 to 2000. Based on the 1990 population of 2,486 residents, the increase represents a 98.6 percent increase in population from 1990 to 2000. Because the 98.6 percent increase had been the highest increase for all municipalities within Washington County, the Village of Jackson received a rank of "1". The data presented here does not take into consideration any annexations and ensuing boundary adjustments that may have occurred to the municipalities.
